

Organisms you may find on the discs: Chordata

Class Ascidiacea

Sea squirts or tunicates on the discs may be solitary or colonial. They usually grow on the underside of the discs. Depending on the time of the year, they may be also overgrown with tiny barnacles and mussels.

Learn more about Ascidiaceans

Common name: Sea squirt

Learn more about Ciona intestinalis

Common name: Sea squirt

Ciona intestinalis

Common name: Star ascidian

Learn more about Botryllus schlosseri

Common name: Light bulb sea squirt

Clavelina lepadiformis

Learn more about Clavelina lepadiformis

